The Palestinian Rights Committee of Upper Hudson Peace Action presents

Veterans History Project: A Quest for Accountability

On 8 June 1967, the fourth day of the Six-Day War, Israeli planes attacked the USS Liberty, an American surveillance ship, killing 34 crew members, wounding 174 and nearly sinking the ship. The Israeli government claimed it was a tragic accident based on mistaken identity. The government of US President Johnson publicly accepted that highly questionable excuse. Surviving veterans still call for a full Congressional investigation. Watch the documentary, talk with a survivor and judge for yourself.

BBC Documentary screening:

"Dead in the Water"

Followed by conversations with a survivor of the attack on the USS Liberty and with a sister ship crew member
